Tip #1 Passion: One of the main things that employers are looking for when employing an Apprentice/Employee is a passion for the role and the industry. They need to be sure that you are fully committed to an apprenticeship and will enjoy learning whilst earning within the company.

Tip #2 Research: As an Apprentice you need to be enthusiastic about your apprenticeship by showing employers that you are keen to learn new skills and progress within your role.

Tip #3 Commitment: Working hard, setting yourself clear, achievable goals, meeting deadlines and following instructions from your experienced colleagues/supervisor/Assessor will help to show your commitment to the role/apprenticeship.

Tip #4 Team Player: Being a team player is key when it comes to an apprenticeship as you may be working with a variety of different people whilst learning new skills within a workplace environment. This will require you to be flexible, actively listen, be always ready to help, support and respect others within your team.

Tip #5 Good Time Keeping: Good time keeping shows your employer that you are keen to work. This includes prioritising your work and planning ahead which will also help you to remain focused and organised within the workplace and in your role/apprenticeship.
